Message from Asif Ali Zardari President Islamic Republic of Pakistan

Graduating Students:

It is indeed a matter of pride for all us to witness this day of your Graduation Ceremony. As Chancellor of the Quaid-i-Azam University, I congratulate all students and their families on this achievement.

Public health is an important field and opens for you panorama of further opportunities of higher education and services delivery. As public health professionals you are out to serve humanity and contribute in the well being of larger communities.

After completing this Degree, I trust you will apply your knowledge for the betterment of the whole society. A healthy nation is a more productive nation. Your role in improving the overall health state of the country will be enormous. After qualifying the Degree in Public Health, you will be representative of change: a change that will make Pakistani nation a healthy nation.

I wish you success in all your future endeavors.

Message from Syed Yousuf Raza Gillani Prime Minister Islamic Republic of Pakistan

I extend my sincere wishes to all the graduating classes of Health Services Academy who have received Master of Public Health and Master of Science in Public Health degrees from the Quaid-i-Azam University, Islamabad.

I also congratulate the first class of MEDVC Diploma holders for attaining this qualification from the Quaid-i-Azam University. I believe that with these degrees and Diplomas conferred on you, you will contribute to the cause of Public Health in Pakistan.

I expect that after obtaining these qualifications, you will serve humanity with utmost dedication and professional commitment. The government of Pakistan is committed to providing you with enabling environment through affirmative policy of response and facilitation. Addressing the problems facing the health sector remains on the top of my government. Despite financial constraints imposed by the unprecedented floods, we would make sure that enough allocations of funds are made available for the social sector development in the country. It is with this in view that the democratic government has devolved the health department to the provinces under the historic 18th Constitutional Amendment, thereby removing the duplication of functions and wastage of resources. I am sure that provinces would now deal with the urgency of health issues on the priority basis.

My message for you on your graduation ceremony is simple: Work hard and try to excel in your respective field. It is time to return what you have received and extend the benefits of your knowledge to our community. I hope that Health Services Academy has prepared you well for coping with the challenges lying ahead of you. You must endeavour to reach out to our people who are waiting for your help. You can be a catalyst of change and harbinger of hope.

I wish you all the best in your future endeavours.

Message from Makhdoom Shahabuddin Sohrwordee Federal Minister for Health Islamic Republic of Pakistan Chairman Board of Governors, HSA

On the day of your Convocation, December 3rd 2010, I extend my warm wishes and heartiest congratulations. I am sure you are all feeling proud having received this Degree that will open for you enormous avenues of personal and professional development.

Let me remind you that Public Health is not just a Degree, it means more responsibility and more devotion to your work as compared to other professions. The reason is that you are dealing with human life that is very precious and with you as leaders in Public Health, assume a great responsibility on your shoulders. Being Public Health experts, you should not confine yourselves to a limited scope, but you should reach out and serve the communities.

Your services will also be needed in teaching and research. I hope that having gone through the rigorous two years training for completing this Degree, you are now more confident of your own abilities to deal with critical Public Health issues in Pakistan. I am expecting change in public health status through your professional wisdom and creativity and hope you will be able to come up to the expectations from you in this regard. I wish you all the best in life.

Message from
Khushnood Akhtar Lashari
Federal Secretary for Health
Islamic Republic of Pakistan
Vice Chairman Board of Governors HSA

Dear Graduating Students and Colleagues

It is indeed a great day not only for you but your families and for the Institution that made huge investment in you of time, energy and resources to equip you with the a very unique qualification: Mater in Public Health and Master of Science in Public Health.

I am sure that this lot of graduating students is committed to change the existing state of Pakistan's health and the change will be poitive and productive.

At Health Services Academy, you were exposed to a variety of areas and received training in different subjects. I hope that in the future, you will pick up further areas of specializations for applied, research and practical purposes. Some of these significant areas to explore are Epidemiology, Health Policy, Health Systems and Bio-Statistics. All these areas will need your expertise to address public health issues, challanges and opportunities in Pakistan. I am sure many of you will also have a chance to travel abroad and work in international organizations. I expect that you will be the best ambassadors of Pakistan and play an active role in solving global health issues.

I assure you that in the Federal Ministry of Health, public health issues will always receive top priority and with your support and leadership, we will be able to deal with complex emergencies, insecurity, poverty related health issues more effectively.

Together we work for better health in the country.

I wish you all the best in your future endeavours.

Message from
Masoom Yasin Zai
Vice Chancellor
Quaid-i-Azam University

I take this opportunity to congratulate the graduating students and I take this privilege to inform you that the Quaid-i-Azam University is very pleased to confer these degrees to qualifying students.

Quaid-i-Azam University adheres to strict academic excellence standards and it is in this back drop that I wish to inform you that you have the received the best training in Public Health that is not only accredited by the Higher Education Commission of Pakistan but is filtered through all formal procedures of qualification.

I believe your degree program has been rigorous and sometimes you had difficult times to make it through. However, let me assure you that excellence is only earned and not dreamed and with your completing the requirements of this Degree, we officially acknowledge your competence in the selected area.

Health Services Academy provided to you a stimulating curriculum that was approved by the Board of Studies, Board of Faculties, Academic Council and the Syndicate of the Quaid-i-Azam University. The University encourages continuous improvements in the curriculum and I trust that HSA delivers its courses by most experienced faculty. Now it is time for you to put your knowledge into practice and make the best uses of your knowledge.

Quaid-i-Azam University has always provided full support to Health Services Academy and over all these years our professional relationship has strengthened. We are willing to continue this collaboration and will be very happy to provide all facilitation on our part.

I wish you all the best.

Message from Dr. Assad Hafeez Executive Director Health Services Academy

Dear Graduating Students

Please accept my heartiest congratulations on this very important day in your life: The convocation day for receiving your Masters Degree in Public Health.

We celebrate with you your joyous moments and strengthen our bond with you for our long lasting relations. I am sure you will always like to return to Health Services Academy to keep us abreast of your ventures in life and your support and goodwill that will always be needed. We will also welcome you always and our support for you in your professional life will continue.

It's a moment of great pride for all of us, the faculty and staff who tirelessly did their job and provided you facilitation at every step of the completion of this degree. I hope you will continue to benefit from their expertise and bring a life to your knowledge by applying the tools and techniques that you have learned to address public health issues not only in the local context but in a larger context of the whole world.

Public health needs your physical presence in the communities. I trust that when you will own the problems of public health, you will discover the ways and means to overcome them. We have shown you the path and I am sure the paths will be brightened and illuminated with your presence. I am sure all of you will play an active role in making the lives of people around you safer, happier and healthier than before.

At Health Services Academy, we raise a family of public health professionals. As we grow in number, we strengthen our outreach and embrace a larger world that is looking to us for support. We have taught you determination to prevail by putting you in all types of practical situations, by taking you in the fields to have a flavour of real public health challenges and issues and trained you how to deal with them.

With the degrees now conferred on you, I request you to diversify your career options for a stronger impact of public health. At Health Services Academy, you have gained rich experience from the Government, from the Partners, from the Faculty and Staff and I am sure when you share this experience with others around you, you will contribute in the best possible manner not only in your profession but in your personal lives. I wish you all the best.

ORGANIZATIONAL PROFILE

Health Services Academy (HSA) was established in 1988 as a department of the Ministry of Health, Government of Pakistan, and provided short courses and training for public health professionals. Since its humble beginnings as a training institute, the Academy has grown steadily and has established itself as the premier institute of public health in Pakistan, looking to provide more academic programs in the near future, as well as providing an environment that focuses on excellence in academics, research, and policy-making.

Ministry of Health promulgated an ordinance entitle Health Services Academy Ordinance, 2002, put into place in November, 2002. Since the implementation of this ordinance from July 1, 2003, the Board of Governors has been supervising the overall affairs of the Academy. Acquisition of the autonomous status paved way for the HSA for creating an environment of academic excellence. In a short span the Academy established itself as a premier institute of public health in Pakistan, offering a variety of Certificate and Master Degree Programs and aiming at expanding its academic portfolio further in the near future

The areas of specialty are Environmental Health, Epidemiology & Biostatistics, Health Economics, Health Promotion & Social Sciences, Health Systems, MNCH, Research & Development & Department of MEDVC (Medical Entomology & Disease Vector Control).

With assistance from the German Technical Cooperation (GTZ), HSA began to offer a Master's in Public Health (MPH) degree in 1995, and the first batch of students graduated in 1996. Since then it has strengthened its capacity as well as contributions for improving the public health training in Pakistan. In 2007, HSA launched the two years of Masters of Science in Public Health (MSPH) Program. Only a year later, a three year Extended Masters of Science in Public Health (Ex-MSPH) Program was initiated at HSA.

Post Graduate Diploma in Medical Entomology and Disease Vector Control (MEDVC) launched in 2009 was another step forward in the efforts of HSA to strengthen the public health expertise in the region. In the same year, with the support of WHO - EMRO, Pakistan Health Economics Network (PHEN) was established by HSA. This forum is being used for conducting advanced trainings in applied health economics, for networking with other organizations and institutes engaged in health economics research and also provide a platform for economists, researchers for solicited and unsolicited health economic policy making.

In 2010 HSA launched a Masters of Health Economics and Management (MHEM) program, a multi disciplinary degree for meeting the growing need of health economic professionals in the country. The course aims to equip the health care professionals with tools and techniques for effective policy and decision making.

Another milestone was achieved in 2010 by the HSA when it entered into collaboration with the Queen Margaret University, Edinbrugh. A certificate Program in Health Human Resource will be initiated soon with the support of GTZ. In the near future the Academy plans to offer, state of the art, Strategic Human Resource Management Education for health managers.

The establishment of Research & Development Department in 2010 is expected to support and contribute to the HSA in accomplishing its wider goal of establishing a centre of excellence in Pakistan and a high quality resource for the region. It will not only enhance the culture & practice of health research in the country, but will also facilitate the advisory and technical services, with a positive impact on the public health practices in the country. The ultimate goal is to improve the health status as well as systems within Pakistan by contributing to its many international commitments including the ones focusing on MDGS.

From offering a variety of certificate programs to Masters Degree Programs; establishing collaborations not only nationally but also with internationally renowned universities like the John Hopkins University, the Bill and Melinda Gates Institute for Population and Reproductive Health USA, the Karolinska Institute Sweden, Madidol University Thailand, the Gadj Mada University Indonesia, the University of Liverpool and the Queen Margaret University; The Academy is indeed moving towards establishing itself as Pakistan's first National University of Public Health Sciences in the near future.

The faculty of HSA is proactively involved in teaching, training; offering technical & advisory services, conducting and supervising research.

Under the new leadership of Dr. Assad Hafeez, Executive Director HSA, it is hoped that HSA will produce well-trained and competent public health professionals, and thus improve health care delivery in Pakistan.

7.0 The way forward

This concept note has already identified the objectives, process that need to be followed for this assignment. The paper is being submitted for review by the ED and key senior officials (as deemed necessary by ED) of HSA. Dr. Thaver and his team (2 Research Associates) will be happy to discuss and clarify any further queries. The idea of including another "helping-hand" as part of the team should be strongly considered by ED, HSA.

In addition, the support of ED will be required for requesting the various development partners and other stakeholders to identify their areas of interest and focus for "research & development" including soliciting their expectations of how "research culture & practice" can be linked to health systems planning, management and implementation and ultimately linking it with National Health Policy. In that context various tools/forms will be developed to seek feedback from these prospective stakeholders/partners.
